GERMAN ADVANCE ON THREE SECTORS

TANK TOWN AND MINES THREATENED

WHILE German panzer columns and motorised infantry, with flame-throwers in the van and their advance cloaked by dense smoke-screens, are smashing their way into Voronezh, where the Russians are fighting bitterly for every street, other German armies are striking with equal ferocity south of Boguchar and in the direction of Stalingrad, the Volga tank and motor city, 200 odd miles to the south-east.

From Lissichansk another German army is biting into Russian positions along the Donetz River, and unconfirmed Axis reports say that it has penetrated beyond Kazansk and to the outskirts of Migulinskaya, perhaps to Voroshilovgrad. Moscow announced last night that the Red Army was gradually withdrawing south of Boguchar.

The Germans have been checked at two points on the Kalinan front, at the distant north-western approaches to Moscow.

The scorched earth policy is reported by the Vichy News Agency to have been applied ruthlessly in the Donetz region.

GERMAN FLANK PIERCED

MOSCOW, Tuesday.—Reuter's Correspondent says: "Forcing the battle along a broad front, Red Army tanks in fierce attacks over the past three days have hurled themselves in repeated waves against formidable anti-tank traps on the left flank of the main German forces west of the Don. These barriers have been built during the past week or ten days while the main German force has been trying to force the Don River. Piercing them at weak spots, the Soviet tanks, followed by Red cavalry and infantry, penetrated deep into the German flank defence. Confusion was created in the German ranks. Heavy losses were inflicted, and the Germans were pressed back to the south.

"Lower down the front the Germans yesterday advanced south of Boguchar, after heavy fighting in the neighbourhood since Sunday morning. Red Star reports that the Germans originally advanced in three columns, two of which tried to encircle the Russian forces. A fierce rearguard action, however, enabled the main body of Russian troops to retire southwards to new positions. The Germans are still pressing, and heavy fighting is going on night and day.

"A Soviet News Agency report says that in a one-day battle on a south-western sector Russian tanks destroyed some of a total of 104 German tanks by rammings, while others were blasted with close-range gunfire.

GERMAN PINCERS

"The Germans appear to be pressing towards the Don river below Boguchar from two directions, carrying out a pincer movement to close below Boguchar. One German army has been advancing down from Rossosh, south-east of Boguchar; the other is moving north-east from Kantemirovka. In the fighting south of Boguchar these two armies are trying to join. At the same time, Soviet troops facing the advancing German forces from Lisichansk may to some extent be threatened from the north by German forces which have thrust forward from Kantemirovka. It is significant that German reinforcements being brought up to the Don sector opposite Voronezh include troops recently stationed on the southern front at Mariupol and Taganrog. These may, of course, be replaced by units withdrawn from the Crimea, which requires a smaller garrison since the fall of Sebastopol. At the same time it confirms what the rest of the German operations indicate—that the German command hopes to attack Rostov from the north, or to by-pass it altogether for the time being, making first for Stalingrad, instead of repeating last year's frontal attack along the Azov coast."

LONDON, Tuesday.—Paris Radio said to-night that German troops have reached a suburb of Voroshilovgrad.

Berlin reports received in Stockholm claim that a German Panzer group has broken through the Russian defences at Pokrovsk, and is now about six miles from Rostov. Pokrovsk is about ten miles north-east of Taganrog and fifty miles north-west of Rostov. The same reports say that after taking Nikolayevka and Slavyansk German troops have reached Voroshilovgrad, where street fighting "should be going on."—(Reuter.)

NEW WITHDRAWAL

LONDON, Tuesday.—The Germans have again advanced several miles south of Boguchar, where fierce fighting is now in progress, said Moscow Radio to-night. Soviet units are gradually withdrawing and making a stand to allow the main Soviet forces to take up new positions.

On the Leningrad front Russian 'planes destroyed a battalion headquarters and attacked troop concentrations and lorries. "Finnish fliers piloting Italian machines were brought down in aerial combat," said the radio.—(Reuter.)

The Germans lost over 35,000 men in ten days' fighting in one sector of the Veronezh front, according to last night's Soviet communiqué.

"BASTILLE DAY" IN FRANCE

MR. EDEN'S MESSAGE

A PARADE of the men of "Fighting France" (La France Combattante) took place in London yesterday to commemorate Bastille Day. General de Gaulle, their leader, laid a heart-shaped wreath in the colours of the Tricolour on the statue of Marshal Foch.

A message from Mr. Anthony Eden to the French people was dropped over France on the eve of Bastille Day. In it Britain's Foreign Secretary gave an assurance that Britain had no intention of taking possession of French territories overseas.

"For us," he said, "the full restoration of France as a great Power is not only adeclared war aim and the fulfilment of a pledge made to a sister nation, but also a practical necessity, if post-war reconstruction is to be undertaken within the framework of that traditional civilisation which is our common heritage."

MASS FOR FRENCH WAR DEAD

At University Church, Dublin, yesterday Requiem Mass for the French war dead was celebrated. A special hymn was played by Monsieur le Feure, organist, Nenagh Cathedral.

The attendance included: The French Minister and Madame de Laforcade, Mlle. de Laforcade and M. F. de Laforcade, M. Cauvet Duhammel, Secretary to the French Legation; Comdt Lachevere, Military Attaché; Capt. Albertas, Naval Military Attaché, and Madame Albertas; Col. Fournier, M. Bernier, the French Commercial Attaché; M. E. Lestocquoy, Mr. Art O'Brien and Miss O'Brien, Mr. Thomas McGreevy, Mlle. Guyot, Mother Agnes and Sister Imelda, Convent of the Assumption, Camden street, Dublin; M. de Loubajac, Miss A. Hanley, Miss N. Hayden, Mlle. Biehler, Capt. Ilynski.

'PLANES REPULSE AXIS ATTACKS

TANKS MASSING FOR BIG BATTLE

A HEAVY aerial barrage beat off repeated Axis attacks on the British salient west of El Alamein, where Marshal Rommel threw into the fighting numbers of tanks brought up from the central sector.

CAIRO, Tuesday.—Allied fighter-bombers were the spearhead which helped British and Dominion troops to beat off the new attack in the northern sector of the front. Their successes included five tanks, destroyed by direct hits, and scores of hits on motor transport and gun positions.

A number of Axis 'planes were destroyed or damaged in two heavy air raids in the El Daba area.—(Reuter.)

"As long as Marshal Rommel holds his position in the El Alamein area he has the situation in hand, German military circles in Berlin say. He will "hold the position until he makes up his mind to undertake further operations," it is added.—(Reuter.)

THE COMMUNIQUES

LONDON, Tuesday.—To-day's communiqué from Cairo says: "In the northern sector our forces beat off attacks by enemy tanks and lorried infantry. In the southern sect enemy columns were engaged by our columns. Air activity was intensified in the battle area. Our fighters, fighter-bombers and light bombers attacked landing grounds in the El Daba area, a column of tanks, and large concentration of vehicles. All attacks were successful, some tanks being destroyed. At least six enemy aircraft were shot down, in addition to others destroyed on the ground."

The German communiqué says:—"In Egypt the only local fighting activity was in the El Alamein area. In air combats and by A.A. fire the British lost 12 'planes.

"Off the coast of Palestine, German U-boats scored two torpedo hits on a tanker sailing in a strongly protected convoy.

The Italian communiqué says:—"In Egypt, Italo-German attacks led to good results. Numerous prisoners and a battalion commander were taken. Yesterday air activity was very intense."—(Reuter.)

"A SECOND TOBRUK"

LONDON, Tuesday — The German radio said to-night that British soldiers "are sticking with a tenacity seen only in a few battles before to El Alamein, with its deep defences behind powerful barbed wire entanglements and broad belts of mines, which have turned it into a second Tobruk. Again and again—strengthened by New Zealanders and Indians—the enemy is sending his tanks into action. Within a few days they lost 35 tanks, some of which had broken into our positions before being smashed by direct fire from our artillery. Wherever a gap opened even light armoured reconnaissance units filled it in a death-defying manner.

"It was claimed that the Axis front remained intact, notwithstanding heavy fire of shells, which increased day to day against our soldiers lying in deep holes At one small point 3,600 shells were fired in a few hours, but when the New Zealanders launched an attack they were beaten back with bloody heads, leaving almost 1,000 prisoners in our hands."—(Reuter.)

JUNE AIR CASUALTIES

The British Ministry of Home Security states that 300 civilians were killed, or missing and believed killed, and 337 injured and detained in hospital as the result of air-raids in the United Kingdom during June.

The figures for May were 399 killed, 425 injured. The year's lowest total was in March, when 21 people were killed and 13 injured.

ZINC OXIDE

NOW MADE IN DUBLIN

For the first time in its industrial history Eire is producing zinc oxide on a commercial scale, and the day has been saved for the Electricity Supply Board, which needed this product urgently for the manufacture of rubber-insulated cable.

Carrying on the experimental work which the E.S.B. had already begun, Industrial Gases (I.F.S.), Ltd., working along lines suggested by the Emergency Scientific Research Bureau, recently finished building their plant in Dublin. Now 10 cwt. a week of zinc oxide is being blown from the crucible into the battery of muslin bags, from which it is collected, screened, and packed for shipment to the manufacturers of matches, paints, rubber, drugs, white ink, and the dozens of others who have a vital need for it.

CORK BACON FACTORIES

NOTICE TO EMPLOYEES

The three Cork bacon factories which figured in Monday's prosecutions may close down next week. The firms are: Lunham Brothers, Ltd., the Cork Farmers' Union Abattoir and Marketing, Ltd., and Messrs. Murphy's, Evergreen Bacon Factory. All three were fined for breaches of the regulations governing the purchase of pigs, and, as a result of the prosecutions, the three firms have intimated to their employés that they are faced with a close down at the end of the week, unless in the meantime steps can be taken to remove or alleviate the difficulties under which the bacon industry has been labouring. Several hundred employés are affected by the decision.

EXPORT OF FAT COWS

The British Ministry of Food has agreed to accept a limited number of fat cows, and export will now be permitted from all ports, Dr. James RYAN (Minister for Agriculture) told Mr. J. Hughes (F.G., Carlow-Kildare) in the Dail yesterday. To another question by Mr. Hughes, he said that the weekly factory killing of pigs since the week ending May 23, 1942, was 4,770, 6,715, 6,403, 6,397, 5,821, 5,465.

He was aware, he told Mr. Michael Og McFadden (F.G., Donegal) that it was proposed to erect a spinning mill in the County Donegal Gaeltacht, and it was proposed to use home-produced wool.

U.S. SHIPS TORPEDOED

WASHINGTON, Tuesday—A U.S. merchantman was torpedoed and sunk off the northern coast of South America. A U.S. merchantman torpedoed in the Caribbean area several weeks ago did not sink and reached the U.S. without casualties.—(Reuter.)

Survivors from a merchantman have been landed at an east coast port. The ship was attacked by enemy 'planes in the Bay of Bengal.—(Reuter.)

SCIENTIFIC BUREAU'S WORK

THE main part of the work of the Emergency Scientific Bureau deals with fuel problems, including the manufacture of turf charcoal as a fuel for mobile producers and other purposes; the use of peat for town gas, and the efficiency of mobile producers. This was stated yesterday in the Dail by Mr. DE VALERA, when he moved the sum of £12,000 to complete the necessary £19,000 for the year's working of the Bureau—an increase of £7,000 over last year.

Dealing with problems involving short supplies, he said that the Bureau is concentrating mainly on those which seem likely to be overcome by short-term research. A special staff had been appointed, and detailed reports of investigations were available to interested firms. Experimental plant for making turf charcoal, consisting of two full-sized retorts, was now being erected at Turraun, and experiments were also being carried out in portable kilns. Several gasworks were working on the use of wood and peat for gas-making. Laboratory tests, under conditions resembling actual use, studied the operation of the producer and gas filter.

PHOSPHORIC ACID

Attempts to develop an electrostatic filter had shown difficulty in adapting the laboratory instrument to use on a lorry. A wet filter which washed the gases in soda solution and used lubricating oil had seemed promising, but oil consumption had proved rather high. A plant for producing compressed ammonia had been erected, while another plant erected at Riverstown Distillery, with the co-operation of the Irish Alcohol Factories, Ltd., could supply the nation's requirements of essential disinfectants. The alcohol factory would take over the plant for the commercial production of formalin.

The tanning industry had benefited from experiments in processes for the production of sulphonated oil and sodium sulphide from indigenous materials, while investigations on the manufacture of various organic acids to meet shortage of imported tartaric and citric acids required by the confectionery and other industries had shown that tartaric acid could not be produced on the scale required. A process had, however, been developed for the production of phosphoric acid, which could replace organic acid for some purposes, while the Bureau was still working on the production of citric, lactic and mucic acids.

Possibilities of fish oil production was being examined by the Department of Industry and Commerce and interested industries. Other investigations include the possibility of producing sulphur.

Spent oxide from gasworks might be made to yield sulphur. Aluminium sulphate had been successfully manufactured. Medicinal glucose had been replaced by invert sugar solution, by a simple process.

ZINC OXIDE

It had been found possible to carburise steel for blanks to make table knives, while formulæ had been developed for the preparation of creosote, disinfectant, axle grease, and fatty acids made from available oils and required in rubber manufacture. The Bureau assisted in an investigation which had resulted in the manufacture of zinc oxide on a commercial scale. An apparatus for the rapid testing of moisture in wood had been developed, while the textile industry had been assisted in the finding of substitutes for oil and size. Investigations commenced include the manufacture of carbon black for ink and paint, improving the short-wave broadcasting station at Athlone, and providing home-manufactured supplies of certain essential medicaments.

Assistance had frequently been given to industry without special experimental work. The Bureau had co-operated closely with Government Departments and with the authorities of universities and technical schools. Industrial firms, scientists and private persons had greatly helped the Bureau.

The vote was agreed to.

NORTHERN CENSURE MOTION

MOVING a motion of censure on Sir Dawson Bates, Minister for Home Affairs, in the Northern Ireland House of Commons, yesterday, Mr. Nixon (Independent) said that people of all religious denominations and political persuasions had been deprived of their liberty on the Minister's signature.

He alleged there had been corruption in the placing of a contract for repairs to Armagh City Hall, but when the Ministry sent an official to hold an inquiry the one thing not touched was the charge of corruption. Mr. Nixon further alleged that Sir Dawson Bates acted as a private solicitor for the firm of E. and R. D. Bates in cases which clashed to a certain extent with his duty as Minister. Nearly four years ago there had been allegations of bribery in connection with the offer to purchase the Rathmore site for a municipal sanatorium, and that had not yet been cleared up. Who, he asked, could have had a motive for offering a bribe, except the man who owned the site, Mr. S. McCudden.

SHOULD RESIGN

Mr. Midgley (Lab.), seconding the motion, said that no Cabinet Minister should be permitted to take part in industrial, commercial or legal practices which might at some stage involve repercussions in Parliament. Having regard to the fact that the Minister was still acting in a legal capacity for the owner of the Rathmore estate, whose departure from the country seemed to have been facilitated by somebody, he should resign. If not, the Cabinet should call on him to resign. If they did not do that, they should reconsider the Cabinet policy on the question of the relationship of members to their private pursuits.

The debate was adjourned until to-day.

IRISH STEEL, LTD.

EMERGENCY POWERS ACT PROTECTION

The position of a new Irish company, Irish Steel, Ltd., which was said to be protected by the Emergency Powers Act, was raised in the Dail last night by General R. Mulcahy, on the final stages of the Emergency Powers (Continuance and Amendment) Bill, which was passed.

Drawing attention to the matter, General Mulcahy stated that Irish Steel, Ltd., protected by the Act from claims of salary, fees, commission or breach of contract, could not be brought into courts into connection with any of these matters. Was there anything more likely to endanger credit, he asked, than to have the Government utilising the Emergency Powers to prevent people who were owed money by any firm from getting their rights. It might be argued that Irish Steel, Ltd., was a very important concern, but if it were looking for credit what likelihood was there of people readily investing their money in it.

Mr. H. M. Dockrell (F.G., Dublin) asked whether the Government were doing away with the Debenture holders' security. If the law was allowed to take its course this business would probably be sold up by the Debenture holders and the firm bought up at a market value. Why must the Government do this? It was cheating the Debenture holders of something they possessed. He could understand the Debenture holders' interests being swept aside in the event of an emergency, but in this case it was merely taking their money from them and preventing them from realising the certain sum of money which they should get.

Mr. DE VALERA said that the question of a steel mill in this country had occupied the attention of the successive Ministers for Industry and Commerce. There was a mill in a position to supply a certain amount, and it was desirable that public interests should be served in getting it going. The successive Ministers for Industry and Commerce were trying to disentangle the affairs of the company, and finally decided upon a trade loan. They had to be certain that that loan should be used for getting the mill going, and not for any other purpose, and it was to protect public money that this Order had been made. He was afraid that it would take a considerable time to put the facts before the House, but he had not the slightest doubt that they would satisfy everyone. He himself had not the facts at his finger-tips at the moment, and, therefore, did not want to deal with the matter in detail.

General MULCAHY said that he was tabling a motion about the matter.

After an amendment by Mr. W. T. COSGRAVE (F.G., Cork) seeking to provide for an appeal in the Circuit Court from conviction for breach of an Order had failed, the bill went through.

SOLDIER FOR TRIAL

Company Sergeant Michael Cunningham, of the Defence Forces, and a native of Carlow, at Adare was returned for trial on bail, on the charge of the manslaughter of Trooper John Healy, a native of Doneraile, Co. Cork, by the alleged reckless driving of a military lorry in which the deceased soldier was a passenger.

BRITISH RULE MUST GO

NEW DISOBEDIENCE MOVEMENT

WARDHA, Tuesday. — Congress Working Committee published a resolution to-day demanding the withdrawal of the British from India. The proposal for the withdrawal of British power from India, the resolution says, was never intended to mean the physical withdrawal of all Britishers, and certainly not of those who make India their home and live as citizens. The resolution makes it clear that, if the appeal to withdraw is turned down, Congress will be compelled reluctantly to utilise all its non-violent strength for the vindication of its political rights and the liberty of India under Mr. Gandhi's leadership

The resolution proposes that, on the withdrawal of British rule, responsible men and women, representative of all important sections of the people, should meet to set up a Constituent Assembly to draft a Constitution. Representatives of free India and Britain would then confer on the adjustment of their future relations.

Mr. Gandhi was authorised by the Committee to head a new civil disobedience movement against the British Government if the demand for the withdrawal of British rule is rejected. He said to-night:—"There is no room left for negotiation—either they recognise India's independence or they don't."

What India wanted was not recognition on paper, but in action, Mr. Gandhi said. "My intention is to make the movement as short and as swift as possible," he concluded.

Mr. Jinnah, President of the Moslem League, said:—"Gandhi is rattling the sword prior to launching a big movement asking the British to quit India, and, in the same breath, he is agreeing to let British troops remain in India to defend her."—(Reuter.)

LOCAL ELECTIONS DATE

An appeal to the Government to hold the Local Government Elections on Saturday, August 15th, was made in the Dail last night by Mr. W. Norton (Labour, Kildare), who pleaded that the elections would be held under unprecedented conditions, with absence of transport and scarcity of paper, and, capping it all, a new managerial system. He urged that the elections should not be held on an ordinary week day.

Mr. de Valera said that they would take place between the 12th and 19th of August, both dates inclusive.

RUHR BOMBED AGAIN

The Royal Air Force again visited the Ruhr in strength on Monday night. An Air Ministry communiqué states: "A strong force of our bombers attacked industrial objectives in the Ruhr last night. Many fires were left burning. Five of our aircraft are missing."

A later Air Ministry communiqué states:—"This morning and again this afternoon fighters were on offensive patrol over Northern France, where they attacked railways and an airfield. This evening fighters attacked and set on fire three small enemy ships off Ostend. One aircraft is missing from these operations."

EIRE'S BARGAINING POWERS

MINISTER CHALLENGED

MOVING a vote of £10,012 for his own Department, in the Dail yesterday, Mr. DE VALERA said that this sum was required to complete the amount of £15,000 necessary for the year.

The increase over last year's figure of £13,767 was mainly due to provision made for a salary of £900, plus bonus, for the Director of the Government Information Bureau. The position had been held on an acting basis by the Deputy Director of Broadcasting, and last year provision for his salary had been made in the Department of Posts and Telegraphs vote.

Moving that the estimate be referred back on "a matter of major importance fundamentally affecting the economic structure of the country," Mr. J. HUGHES said that this matter was the bargaining power of the country. Many people had been amazed at the stupidity of Mr. Lemass's statement that the country had no bargaining power. The Dail was entitled to a full statement and an explanation as to why no Minister or Ministers had been sent over to England on these matters.

"LACK OF POLICY"

Accusing the Minister for Supplies of lack of policy and foresight, Professor O'SULLIVAN (F.G., Dublin) said that the Taoiseach was primarily responsible for the failures of the Departments of Supplies and Agriculture, and for the succession of blunders that had been made.

Mr. BENNETT (F.G., Limerick) said that the diminution of dairy herds was a serious matter, and the Government must somehow induce the farmers to keep these herds.

Mr. DAVIN (F.G., Leix-Offaly) said that the responsibility for the state of affairs in the country should be laid at the doors of the Minister for Industry and Commerce and the Minister for Agriculture.

POST-WAR PLANS

An appeal for the establishment of an Economic Council was made by Mr. Norton (Labour, Kildare), and General Mulcahy (F.G., Dublin) called for a strong educational foundation and for planning to overcome the confusion into which industry and agriculture had been thrown by the Government.

Mr. H. M. DOCKRELL urged the Taoiseach to tell the business community what post-war plans had been made and what they would have to face, if the Government did not know and the people did not know they would probably end up doing nothing.

The Dail adjourned until to-day.

FRENCH WARSHIPS AT ALEXANDRIA

PROTECTION BY U.S. REJECTED

FRANCE has rejected an American offer to take the French warships at Alexandria into "protective custody."

WASHINGTON, Tuesday. — Mr. Sumner Welles, United States Under Secretary of State, announced to-day that France had rejected two proposals made by President Roosevelt for the removal of the French warships at Alexandria to a safe port. President Roosevelt, he said, had warned the French Government that if the proposals were not accepted Britain would be justified in ordering the ships through the Suez Canal, and if this order was not obeyed Britain would be fully justified in destroying the ships.

President Roosevelt's proposals were made, Mr. Welles said, in the belief that no matter what situation might develop in Egypt, the warships would be in imminent danger through a possible Axis attack. Despite the two rejections by France, Mr. Welles hoped that the President's proposals would receive further consideration as being of high interest to the French people.—(Reuter.)

TWO PROPOSALS

President Roosevelt made his first proposal to France on July 3, suggesting that the ships should be placed under United States protective custody and taken to some American or neutral Latin-American port, with a guarantee of their return to France after the war. When this proposal was rejected President Roosevelt proposed, on July 9, that the ships should be withdrawn to Martinique under a safe conduct by the United States and Britain and immobilised there for the duration of the war under the same conditions as the other French warships. This offer was also rejected by France, which insisted that the ships should go to some nearby French port.

Mr. Welles said that the United States Government regarded these ships as entirely outside the provisions of the armistice agreement, since at the time of its signature they were at Alexandria.—(Reuter.)

"SECOND FRONT NOW"

U.S. INDUSTRY'S CALL

A Reuter New York message states that the Congress of Industrial Organisations has started the distribution of 500,000 postcards, addressed to President Roosevelt, asserting that a second front was needed "without further delay." The postcard reads: "I am behind your second front agreement. It is needed without further delay. I see a danger to victory unless the Western front is opened immediately."

A Reuter report from Moscow quotes Ilya Ehrenburg, the Soviet writer, declaring, in an article entitled "The Fatherland is in Danger," that Russia would not have long to wait now for help in the shape of a second front.

"The Germans will not break through to Stalingrad," he writes. "This year Germany will get to know a second front. We have stood alone for a whole year. We shall stand alone for a time yet—but we shall not have to wait long now."

MIDWAY ISLAND LOSSES

WASHINGTON, Tuesday.—The full extent of the United States' victory in the naval and air battle off Midway Island, in the Pacific, early in June was disclosed in a statement issued by the Washington Navy Department to-night. The United States lost only one warship—a destroyer—though the 19,900 tons aircraft carrier Yorktown was put out of action.

As against this, the Japanese had at least nine ships sunk—four aircraft carriers, two heavy cruisers, and three destroyers—as well as three battleships four cruisers and several destroyers damaged. They also lost 275 'planes. Japanese killed or drowned totalled 4,800, as against American losses amounting to 92 officers and 215 enlisted men.—(Reuter.)

IRISH CITIZENS ABROAD

TREATMENT MAINLY SATISFACTORY

—MR. DE VALERA

THE position of Irish citizens residing abroad was, generally speaking, satisfactory, Mr. de Valera revealed in the Dail yesterday, when a vote of £61,812 for the Department of External Affairs was passed.

The Taoiseach said that there were over 600 Irish citizens registered at the Legation in France, over 450 at the Legation in Italy, while they had news of nearly 200 Irish people in the Channel Islands alone. Many Irish people abroad had lost their employment, and if they were dependent on annuities or income from investments in other belligerent countries, their means of livelihood were cut off. Anything that the Department's representatives could do would be small in relation to the degree of hardship usually involved, but the Department was doing all that it could do. Over 3,000 inquiries had been dealt with since the outbreak of war, and only in a few cases had it been impossible to get information.

Where Irish people abroad living on pensions, or dividends, and students and patients in sanatoria, etc., could no longer get their money, it had been arranged to collect the amounts at this end, and, subject to a fixed monthly maximum, adopted to conserve foreign exchange and secure uniformity of treatment, the amount was paid to the owner by the Department in the currency of the country concerned. The same procedure was used to enable people here to meet payments necessary to preserve their right to property abroad. Where citizens were destitute and repatriation could not be arranged, a grant sufficient to preserve them from total destitution was made. This procedure was in fairly regular operation in 275 cases, and over 1,350 individual payments had been made, involving more than £25,000. Irish citizens had been repatriated from North Africa, France, Sweden, Italy, and other Continental countries during the year.

REPATRIATION

Arrangements had been made for the return within the next six weeks of about 45 priests and clerical students from Rome. The repatriation solution always was not possible, most of the people concerned, mainly governesses and people of that kind, having been living abroad so long as to make it tantamount to leaving their homes. Most of them, although warned to return to Ireland, had preferred to remain where they were, and that still was their feeling. In other instances, transport was the difficulty.

"Generally speaking," said Mr. de Valera, "the treatment of our citizens abroad by the local authorities has been in accordance with what they were entitled to expect as citizens of a neutral State, though there have been cases in which the Department has had to intervene with the local authorities. In time of war, strangers easily become an object of suspicion, and carelessness in talk or behaviour, or even indiscreet association, might lead to an expulsion order, if not something more serious. Our representatives abroad are expected to see that the rights of Irish citizens are properly respected, and they have had, from time to time, to make representations in cases of that kind." He added that the Department had undertaken the collection of debts due on the Continent to Irish firms, and, generally speaking, no difficulties had been met.

THE FAR EAST

Turning to countries where Eire had no representatives, he said that he had been asked last year about the possibility of repatriating some of our citizens mostly seamen, who were stranded in Sweden, and, mainly owing to the good offices of the Swedish and British authorities, some had returned and others were due to leave shortly. The Far East situation was more difficult. There were many Irish priests and nuns there, and they did not know the total number of Irish citizens involved, but they were taking steps to get the information. A few of the earlier reports gave grounds for anxiety, but the latest information indicated that the people concerned were in good health and carrying on with their work as well as circumstances permitted. One report stated that forty-five Irish citizens in Hong Kong were in urgent need of funds, and the Irish Red Cross Society had given a grant of £1,000, which had been transferred and would be administered under Irish control.

The Taoiseach also spoke of the Government's decision to make itself responsible for the burial of members of the armed forces of other countries whose bodies were washed ashore or who had been killed in air crashes.

During the past year Consular representatives had handled over 1,800 estates of deceased persons, and the amount which accrued to Irish beneficiaries was considerably more than $600,000, of which over $133,000 was distributed by the Department of External Affairs.

THE LEAGUE AFTER THE WAR

TASKS THAT AWAIT IT

THE tasks of the League of Nations after the war were envisaged by Mr. de Valera in the Dail yesterday, when a vote of £8,338 for the League membership expenses was passed.

International assistance of refugees would have to be resumed on a vast scale, he said, and minority problems were likely to create difficulties. A little reflection, he suggested, would show that some such organisation as the League would be required to undertake that work, and it was important for a small State like Eire that there should be such an organisation. Undoubtedly, he added, there was much in the origin of the League which made it difficult for some nations to accept it wholeheartedly, but it was an international organisation in being, and he felt that it would be wiser to use it rather than to try to set up some other organisation.

LABOUR CONFERENCE

Suggesting that there had been a change of policy from last year, General R. MULCAHY (F.G., Dublin) asked why neither of the two Irish Governments had taken part in the discussions at the International Labour Office in New York last October, when a report dealing with economic and social tendencies prepared by a distinguished Irishman was before the Conference.

Mr. DE VALERA said the position was that these meetings were held in a country then on the point of war. The highly political character of the discussions was only natural. Directly or indirectly, war issues were raised. It was not possible to send a Minister, and at that distance it was difficult for civil servants to interpret the attitude of the Government on these matters, or to take responsibility to intervene in the debate to explain those views. Their presence showed the country that they were interested.

MEDICAL APPOINTMENT

MINISTER QUESTIONED

Mr. Sean MacEntee, Minister for Local Government and Public Health, bore the brunt of some heavy questioning in the Dail yesterday. Faced with six questions from Mr. Patrick McGilligan, Mr. Wm. Cosgrave, and General R. Mulcahy, regarding the appointment of a Chief Medical Adviser to the Department, he told the House that this post was not filled by promotion because, in view of its outstanding importance from the point of view of public health, it was desired to secure the services of the best person available, whether already in the Civil Service or not. The conditions of appointment to the position were determined after full consultation with the Minister for Finance and the Civil Service Commissioners. As regards professional qualifications, which differed from those of last year, it was deemed desirable to prescribe a higher standard than previously; that standard was fixed without reference to the qualifications of the existing medical staff.

Women who lead the strenuous life

Public appreciation of the value of 'Phyllosan' increases every day, and in times of abnormal stress the revitalizing effect of these wonderful little tablets is more than ever acceptable.

The fame of 'Phyllosan' has spread throughout the world and, in the words of one of our leading medical journals, it "has stood the test of time, and the developments indicated point to still greater usefulness for this product in the future."

'Phyllosan' tablets should be taken by all who need revitalizing, but it is more particularly those over forty who derive the most pronounced benefit from these tablets.

We say again that, if you take 'Phyllosan' tablets regularly, we believe the results will astonish you.

New Variety of Wheat Shown to Minister

Great Hopes Expressed

A NEW variety of wheat, which, its propagators hope, will take first place among the varieties grown in this country, is being produced at the Albert Agricultural College, Glasnevin, by Professor M. Caffrey, who showed an experimental plot yesterday to farmers, seedsmen, millers, brewers and maltsters. The plot was also inspected by the Minister for Agriculture, Dr. J. Ryan, and the Minister for the Co-ordination of Defensive Measures, Mr. Frank Aiken.

The new variety is a cross between Yeoman and Ironmaster. Queen Wilhelmina is widely regarded as the best wheat grown in this country, and the new variety, Professor Caffrey claims, has the best qualities of Queen Wilhelmina and of the other two.

DISEASE RESISTANT

The Professor showed the party other plots of experimental growths of wheat and oats, the aim of the experiments being, he said, to produce strains resistant to disease and having other qualities which would make them advantageous to grow. They were meeting with a good deal of success. It might take up to twelve years before the stage of distribution to growers was reached, but in four years from the initial experiment they had plots producing fifteen to twenty barrels of grain.

Mr. D. Deasy, another member of the staff of the College, showed a plot of mangels which has been sown for seed, and said that about 32 cwts. of seed had been got from an acre of roots.

The party were conducted around the other departments of the College—bacteriological, botanical, physiological, animal nutrition, insect pests—by the professors. They also inspected the dairy shorthorns, the fowl, pigs, etc., and Professor G. O. Sherrard conducted them over the College gardens.

Among those who were present were Senators P. Kehoe and J. Magee.

Howth Wants More Sunday Trains.—Howth U.D.C. last night decided to write to the Minister for Industry and Commerce urging an increase in the Sunday train service between Dublin and Howth.

DENTAL PLAN CRUX

The panel in connection with the National Health Insurance Society's dental scheme is proposed to be completed on 21st next. In a statement last night the Society appeals to the entire dental profession to join in the scheme. The statement is as follows:

DENTAL BENEFIT SCHEME.

Referring to the statement issued by Mr. J. J. Ryan, M.B., L.D.S., Hon. Secretary, Irish Dental Association the National Health Insurance Society wishes to emphasise that the Society has never suggested that the public should not get that scientific treatment to which it is entitled; and, in fact, has provided in the Dental Benefit scheme that such treatment will be given to insured persons. Examination of the Form of Agreement will remove any misapprehension on that point.

The Society is anxious to secure the co-operation of the entire dental profession, and hopes that those members of the Irish Dental Association and all other dentists who have not already completed and returned the Agreement will do so immediately or by the 21st July, 1942, on which date it is proposed to complete the Panel.

In the interests of the public health the Society desires to bring this and other additional benefit schemes into operation at an early date.

DUBLIN BICYCLE THEFTS

"Bicycles are being stolen daily in the city, and there is a traffic in breaking them up and selling them piecemeal or reconstructing bicycles out of those stolen," declared Judge Davitt in the Circuit Criminal Court, Dublin, yesterday, when Patrick Kelly, Sherrard avenue, North Circular road, Dublin, was found not guilty by the jury and acquitted of having conspired with Gerald Dillon to steal bicycles and with having stolen bicycles. Kelly pleaded not guilty, but Dillon pleaded guilty to conspiracy and the stealing of bicycles, and was put back for sentence

MEATH GAELTACHT

Arising out of the award of Irish scholarships by the Meath Vocational Education Committee, Mr. O'Kelly, Gibbstown, on Monday, told that body that the Department of Education had refused to sanction a scheme submitted by him for the reception of scholarship holders at his school. It was stated by the letter that the application of Clann na hEireann for recognition as a centre for the reception of scholarship holders must have priority. The Committee had already decided to send their scholarship holders to the care of Clann na hEireann at Gibbstown. Mr. O'Kelly said that Clann na hEireann were not a teaching body, and had no accommodation at the Gibbstown Hostel for teaching. After some discussion, the Committee decided to call a special meeting to rescind their previous resolution approving of the sending of scholarship holders to Clann na hEireann, and advised Mr. O'Kelly in the meantime to get his school approved by the Department.

IRISH BANK REPORT

COMPANY NEWS

W. & H. M. Goulding, Ltd., regret that there may be some delay in completing the accounts for the year ended 30th June last. Preliminary results, however, show that revenue from outside sources has been well maintained, but profits on manufacturing and trading in Eire will be less than last year. At the meantime it has been decided to pay a dividend at the rate of 5½ per cent. per annum on the Preference Stock, and a further dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum on the Ordinary Stock, in respect of the six months ended 30th June, 1942, thus making a total dividend for the year of 5½ per cent. and 6 per cent., respectively (same as last year). When the accounts are completed the directors will recommend that the above-mentioned figure will be the final dividend for the year.

Anglo-American Telegraph.—Interim dividend on Ord. ½ p.c. (same); on Pref., 1¼ p.c. (same).

British Plaster Board.—Net profits £390,969 (against £214,383). Parent Company's net profits are also substantially greater at £357,827 (against £211,203).

Briggs Motor Bodies.—Net profit £92,874 (against £90,769). Dividend of 7 per cent. (same).

Barrow Paper Mills.—Profit, £66,879 (against £89,067). Ordinary dividend of 5 p.c. (same).

Clifford Motor Components.—Net profit £34,437. Final dividend 1¾ per cent. (against 10 per cent.), and bonus again 10 per cent., making total distribution for year of 30 per cent. (against 27½ per cent.).

Dundalgan Pig.—Profit £14,573 (against £11,737). Dividend 6 per cent.

Metropolitan Electric Cable and Construction.—Trading profit £44,444 (against £41,496). Final dividend 5 per cent., making 7½ per cent. (same).

Super Oil Seals.—Interim, 15 p.c. (same).

DUBLIN TRANSPORT DIVIDEND

The Dublin United Transport Company is maintaining its interim dividend on the Ordinary Stock at 2 per cent., less tax.

Last year's final payment was 3 per cent., making 5 per cent., against 4 per cent. for 1940.

CROPS IN LONGFORD

Potatoes in several parts of County Longford, having suffered a rotting of the seed, will prove a very light crop. Early in June some acres were re-planted, and are progressing even better than earlier sowings. Blight has appeared in some of the early varieties, but the main crop sorts are still safe. Turnip and mangel sowings had, in many cases, to be done twice, and the crop will not be a general success. Wheat—up to £10 an acre (Irish), being double that of last year.

SENTENCE REMOVED

Judge Shannon, in the Circuit Court yesterday, removed a sentence of 14 days' imprisonment imposed on James Best, junior, of Cabra road, for not having a certificate of insurance for a motor car on May 17 last. He substituted a fine of £5, and said that appellant had no intention to evade his responsibilities, and, if there had been an accident, would have been in a position to provide compensation.

SOLDIER CHARGED

Edward Forrest, a private in the Defence Forces will be tried at the Special Criminal Court in Dublin on July 24 next.

HOW BRITISH FUNDS HAVE RISEN

SHORTAGE OF STOCK

By Our London Financial Correspondent.

ALTHOUGH the steadier undertone of the London Stock Markets that followed the more reassuring news from Egypt has been maintained, business has become much quieter as a result of the serious reports of further German advances into Russia. As has been the case for a long period—although prices quickly recover when news is favourable—receipt of unfavourable reports does not lead to any appreciable increase in selling: it merely checks activity.

The firmer section is that for British Funds, but even these showed less buoyancy yesterday, although there has been no reaction. The extent of the rise in this group since the beginning of the month, when firmness developed as the result of the weight of money seeking investment, and the rumour that in the near future the Treasury may modify the terms of borrowing on one of the "tap" loans, is indicated by the following table:—

Security	Price on July 14.	Rise since June 30.
Consols 2½ p.c.	83	5/8
Conversion 3½ p.c. ...	108	5/8
Funding 2¾ p.c.	100¼	5/8
War Loan 3½ p.c. ...	106	7/8
War Loan 3 p.c.	102⅜	9/16
Local Loans	96⅝	11/16

To some extent, too, the appreciation in Gilt-edged helped by the relative market shortage. Some of the buying is due to the desire to place funds in safe securities until the outlook becomes less unsettled, and for this reason, even should the war news become more disturbing, a set-back in Gilt-edged is not expected.

ANOTHER FEATURE

Another feature has been the advance, ranging up to 3 points, in Brazilian Bonds, attributed mainly to buying by the Brazilian Government, which is using the sterling balances accumulated in London as a result of the Republic's favourable trade balance, to reduce the external debt on favourable terms.

Home Rails have become quieter. Turnover in home Industrials is small, and price movements are unimportant. There has been a continued demand for some Iron and Steel shares, because of recent favourable company statements.

As indicated by the increase in the Ord. dividend from 15 to 25 per cent., the full report of British Plaster Board shows a satisfactory expansion in earnings for the year to 31st March. The combined net profit of the company and its subsidiaries amounted to £390,969, or £176,586 more than in 1940-'41, while the net profit of the parent company appears at £357,826, compared with £211,202 for 1940-'41. The balance carried forward is raised from £112,324 to £268,072.

BUILDING INDUSTRY

The Chairman explains that although a branch of the building industry in which the company is largely interested was practically at a standstill, a demand for materials normally used by the branch of the building industry referred to has since arisen. Demands have also been made upon the company from various classes of manufacturers for materials previously imported by them but not now available, and the company's laboratories have been successful in developing processes and producing lines to assist in the manufacture of a variety of goods now in demand.

The result of this is reflected in the trading figures. He points out that the company's 17 subsidiaries (with one exception) are exclusively engaged in the manufacture of materials other than plaster board, and the manufactures run into several hundred different products.

He also gives the opinion that no industry has a more assured post-war future than that of the building trade, with which the company is so closely allied.

The balance sheet shows that investments in Gilt-edged stocks, etc., have increased by £86,229 to £891,541. Stocks are £23,765 up at £64,839, while cash has risen from £25,324 to £181,516.

The results of Briggs Motor Bodies for the year 1941 reflect the war-time demand for the company's products, which are mainly automobile bodies and steel stampings. Profit on trading expanded from £326,336 to £345,895, but the net balance (after deducting £182,000, against £168,000 for income tax) is down from £105,249 to £92,874.

The Ordinary dividend for 1941 is being maintained at 7 p.c., a rate paid since 1935.

DUBLIN EXCHANGE

There was a slight improvement in public interest on the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday, and more attention was paid to cross-Channel securities, which were mostly sellers and recorded all round shrinkages. Movements among Irish securities made an irregular showing.

The Second National Loan eased a shade, and 4 p.c. Exchequer Bonds lost 7/6 at 108⅝, but the Fourth National Loan hardened to 105⅛, while other issues held steady. British Funds were on the dull side, and 3½ p.c. War Loan dipped to 105 13/16.

Bank of Ireland Stock firmed up to 323⅝ on the unchanged dividend of 5½ p.c. for the past half year. Guinness Ord. shaded off to 92/- in a small way.

Rails were mostly out of favour. Great Northern Ord. relapsed 2/6 to 20, and the Pref. drooped to 39. Great Southern Ord. declined to 12½, but the Deb. rose to 63.

Dublin Transport Ord. hardened to 18/6, and Clondalkin Paper Ord. to 5/10½. Cement Ord. shed a pence at 34/3, but Irish Cinema Pref. and Smyth and Co. Ord. tended higher.

Courtaulds were lowered to 35/11½, and Imperial Chemical Ord. gave way to 32 7/16. Imperial Tobacco Ord. closed lower at 121/-, but Vickers Ord. held 16/11½. Shell Transport Ord. changed hands at 46/11½ and Brazilian Tractions at 15.

LONDON IN DULL MOOD

The uncertainties of the situation in Russia had a very restraining influence on the London Stock Exchange yesterday, the result being an extremely dull session. Business was checked, and in many cases prices were allowed to sag, but, though dealers marked prices down, it was mainly precautionary, there being no great selling pressure.

Gilt-edged showed practically no change. British Rails lost ground, a little profit-taking being an adverse factor.

Breweries kept firm, but leading Tobacco shares fell away, Imperials and "Bats" each losing 7½d. British Celanese came down to 10/6—a loss of 6d., while Coats and Courtaulds each shed 3d. Among the few firm spots that emerged on the day were South Durham Steel shares, which gained 1/3 at 28/1½.

There was very little movement in the Mining Market, and Oils were generally lower.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

We have obtained all the information and explanations we have required in the course of our examination in detail of the foregoing Profit and Loss Account and Balance Sheet.

We have verified the Investments. Their market value, as on 30th June, 1942, is in excess of the amount at which they stand in the Balance Sheet. We have also verified the Cash and Bills in hand at the Head Office.

The Balance Sheet is, in our opinion, properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the Company's affairs according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us, and as shown by the Books of the Company and the Certified Returns from the several Branches.

Killarney Programme

The principal event at Killarney to-day, the Windsor Lad Cup, will be contested by only three runners, but the meeting of Capital Star and Topaleen should be interesting. Mrs. Watts's horse meets the other on 17lb. better terms than at the Junction last month, and that should enable him to turn the tables; for, while Capital Star won easily, Topaleen did not have the best of luck in running. Selections:—

Dunloe Hurdle—Kersey.
Killarney Hurdle—Zog.
Extra Plate—All Shell.
Innisfallen Chase—Crafty Prince.
Lough Lein Plate—Kyle o' Cameron.

FARMERS TO CONFER

The formation of a nation-wide agricultural organisation "to secure fair representation for rural Ireland in central and local government" will be the subject of discussion when representatives of the farming community in all counties will attend a national conference in the Ormond Hotel on Wednesday, July 22. The aim of the new movement will be to secure for those who live and work in rural Ireland a standard of remuneration at least equal to that prevailing in industrial and commercial occupations.

Offensive in Russia

Remembering the extravagant claims that were made by both sides on the Russian front twelve months ago, the impartial observer at present will take all reports from Southern Russia with a certain amount of reserve. All that is certain is that the great German offensive seems to have begun in earnest, and that fighting on a terrific scale is in progress on the comparatively short front between Kursk and the Sea of Azov. On this occasion there has been no element of surprise. Not only were the Russians anticipating a German attack for several months past, but they knew where it was most likely to take place, and Marshal Timoshenko made his military dispositions accordingly. Nevertheless, just as happened this time last year, the Germans have scored initial successes. They are numerically inferior to the Russians; but their transport system is immeasurably better, and Marshal von Bock, who is directing the offensive, is in a position to concentrate overwhelming forces at any given point, whereas the Russians, with their more antiquated system of rail and road transport, can move their reserves around only with difficulty. As also was the case last year, the Soviet armies are putting up a magnificent defence. Opposed at one point by no fewer than thirty-six German divisions, Marshal Timoshenko is using every artifice to hold his enemies at bay. The Germans are making a resolute attack on the River Don. It seems that they have not yet captured the important town of Voronezh, which they have been besieging for more than a week; but their armoured divisions have broken through the Soviet defences at more than one point, and are trying to force the crossings of the Don. The Russians are following the tactics that have proved to be so valuable since the campaign began. They are retreating frontally, but attacking the German flanks with their tanks, which are being followed up by cavalry—the Don valley is the home of the famous Cossacks—and infantry. Reports are contradictory; but there is little doubt that Marshal von Bock has made substantial progress in places, apparently at heavy cost. Herr Hitler announced some little time ago that he had become independent of the Caucasian oilfields; but it is fairly obvious that the Caucasus is the ultimate object of the present offensive. Russian messages report that among the reserves that have been brought up by the Germans are troops that formerly were engaged in the Mariupol-Taganrog sector, a fact which would suggest that Marshal von Bock intends either to capture Rostov-on-Don from the north, or to "by-pass" it altogether, and to press on to the Soviets' great tank-producing centre at Stalinograd, abandoning the plan which was put into operation last year, when Rostov was attacked frontally along the coast of the Sea of Azov with dire results for General von Kleist's command. According to yesterday's bulletins, the Germans have reached the suburbs of Voroshilovgrad, where heavy fighting is taking place, and they are pushing down the Donetz basin towards Rostov, which has been in Russian hands since last November. Marshal Timoshenko's obvious strategy is to fight a delaying action, harassing the advancing Germans by means of flank and rearguard attacks, and doing everything in his power to prevent them from gaining a military decision before the onset of winter. Furthermore, he must be acting with full knowledge of the Anglo-American plan for the establishment of a second front somewhere in Europe before the end of the present year. Much depends on the success of this plan. Manifestly, premature action by the British and Americans would be worse than useless. Their obvious policy is to wait until the Germans have become thoroughly involved in their offensive against the Russians before they strike, hoping in the meantime that the German High Command will be caught in two minds, and that it will not risk an "all-out" attack on the Russians until the Anglo-Saxon allies have exposed their hand. Meanwhile, the Russians are bearing the full brunt of Marshal von Bock's offensive, which is being conducted on a formidable scale. They are suffering heavy losses both in men and in material; but there can be no doubt that the Germans also are paying a big price for their territorial gains. In the air, as well as on land, the Soviet forces are defending themselves with remarkable vigour. So far, at any rate, while ground has been yielded, every inch of it has been contested bitterly.

The Indian Dilemma

It appears that the political news from India can be summarised in a phrase, "Gandhi versus The Rest." Broadly, the leaders of the Congress Party are divided into two factions over the question of "civil disobedience." Mr. Gandhi is anxious to open a nation-wide campaign of civil disobedience without further delay, as a protest against the British Government's attitude towards India in general, and against the proposals which were conveyed by Sir Stafford Cripps, and rejected by the Congress Party, in detail. His influence over the Congress is very large; very many, if not a majority, of the back-benchers are on his side, and will follow where he leads them. Most of the leaders, however, are reluctant to commit themselves and the country to his campaign. They are as eager as he is that the British shall hand over the conduct of Indian affairs to the Indians, and, like him, they refuse to co-operate in any degree with the British against the danger of a Japanese invasion; but they have an uneasy feeling that mass disobedience would entail too formidable a risk. General Wavell may be able to defend India without the support of the Congress Party, or of the millions of men who, according to Mr. Jawaharlal Nehru, would fly to arms on behalf of their own free nation; but the hostility of the Congress, whether active or passive, would render his task almost immeasurably more difficult. The Congress leaders—apart from Mr. Gandhi—are asking themselves whether they would be right to take the risk. Admittedly, they would make their attitude clear, but simultaneously they would be lending valuable assistance to the Japanese. All the politicians unite in regarding Japan as the chief enemy. They profess no love for either England or the United States, and, since Russia signed a treaty of alliance with Great Britain, she also has come under suspicion; but their sympathies are wholeheartedly on the side of China, and China's enemy is Japan. That is argument enough for them, quite apart from any designs that the Japanese may entertain against India herself. It is small wonder that the Congress Party is taking its time about a final decision. Its deliberations would be complicated even further if Mr. Rajagopalachari, the one-time Premier of Madras, who had the hardihood to advocate collaboration with the Moslem League shortly after the failure of Sir Stafford Cripps's mission, were there to urge his point of view; but Mr. Rajagopalachari, whether of his own accord or under pressure from Mr. Gandhi, has resigned his membership of the party. Meanwhile, the Moslem League remains adamant. Like the Congress, it rejected the British proposals, and declines to collaborate with the Viceroy's Government. The only move has come from the Viceroy himself, who has enlarged his Executive Council to include a large majority of Indians; but even that "gesture" means nothing to the dissident parties, who regard it merely as another shadowy concession without a trace of substance. The whole situation must be torture both to England and to India. Even if Japan seems to have directed her main efforts against China, nobody can foretell the moment when she will strike against India; and a divided, discontented nation will have lost valuable months in which to prepare for resistance.
